We regret to hear that Mr H. E. Wade has been obliged to take a respite from duty on account of the state of his health. During his retirement, which we hope will not necessarily be of long duration, his place at Police Magistrate will be taken by Captain Ramsey, Harbour Master. Mr Ramsey prided in the Police Court to-day and disposed of a number of cases.

A PARTY of police under Sergt. Bullin raided a public gambling-house at No. 61 Wellington Street early this morning. There was the usual stampede, but the police managed to get hold of the master of the den and his accountant. These two were brought before Mr Ramsey in the Police Court to-day, and sentenced to a week's hard labour, without the option of fine.

The vote for the increased military contribution which will be proposed at the meeting of the Legislative Council to-morrow will not be passed without a protest by the official members. In Singapore the officials stubbornly resisted the increase, the vote being only carried by the Government majority. And after it was passed, the Council unanimously adopted a resolution that the sum demanded was more than the Colony should be called upon to undertake, bearing in mind that by far the larger proportion of British trade passing through the Straits does not belong to, and only indirectly benefits the Settlements, and that the protection of Singapore as a Naval Station, independent of any advantage to the Colony, is from its position of paramount necessity to the maintenance of the Empire in this quarter of the world.

The Hongkong officials, we believe, will vote against the proposal that the contribution be increased to £40,000, but they will move an amendment to the latter part of the motion providing that the money be not charged to the Colony until the garrison is sent out.

A COUPLE of Chinese fortune-tellers, who seem either to have exercised their art with remarkable skill, or to have got hold of a dup of the most credulous kind, were brought to the Central Police Station to-day on a charge of stealing money by means of a trick. The complainant, a fairly well-dressed Chinaman said she had been ill for some time and went to consult the fortune-tellers about her health. One of them, after communing with a joss, solemnly informed her that there was a devil in her house who must be driven away before she could ever expect to feel well again. The other fortune-teller was of the same opinion, and the thing was placed entirely beyond dispute when the woman was made to believe by a very simple contrivance that she heard the joss make a similar assertion. The joss trick having succeeded so well in the first trial, it was kept up, and the poor woman in making the subsequent arrangements for the expulsion of the devil always covered her head with a cloth and put a tube to her ear and listened to the words of the wooden deity. At the other end of the tube one of the fortune-tellers endeavoured to talk like a joss as he could, and although his remarks revealed a very mercenary disposition they were all taken in good faith. By this means, it was said, some thirty dollars and a quantity of clothing were squeezed by the fortune-tellers from the woman, who, as she got no better, took the advice of a sceptical friend and explained the matter to the police.

The competition between the Kowshing and Iking appears to be cod for travellers. If not for the companies, the former vessel brought up 500 passengers and the latter 471 on the last trip from Ningpo.—N.C. Daily News.

I used to be a common complaint years ago that washermen wore the foreign clothing given them to wash. At the Mixed Court, Shanghai, the other day, four men were charged with unlawfully dressing in foreign clothing, which had been given them to wash. They were each fined $10.

LIEUTENANT-Colonel Jerrard, West Riding Regiment, has been appointed D.A.G. here, in place of Captain Tether, whose time is up, and he is expected here shortly. Lieutenant-Colonel Jerrard had been promoted Captain in 1886, and he had been promoted to the 23rd June, 1878, and he had been promoted to the 22nd September, 1878, with Major O'Sullivan, late of the Battalion.—Regimental News.

MY DEAR ROYAL HIGHNESS.—Less than 50 years ago Hongkong was a desolate and almost unknown island with a scanty population of poor fishermen scattered along its shores. To-day it is an important portion of the Empire, with a virile population of over 200,000 souls; it is one of the busy centres of the commercial life of the world, receiving each year into its capacities harbour millions of tons of the shipping of all nations; it is a valuable military position on the frontiers of the empire and a great naval station. Such is it that its origin in the early years of Her Majesty's reign; it has received its charter as a Colony from her hands; it has risen to its present position under her protection, and its growth and development have appeared to me to have been the result of her policy towards it.
